Budget freeze decision reversed as c.o.r. president

by Jerry Jacobs

Two weeks ago, in a meeting of the Council of Representatives a non-unanimous vote passed a 1-2 majority to freeze all central activities until Dec. 31. Last week that decision was reversed. It had been hoped that a freeze would help to reduce what C.O.R. had built up during its first year. The students body and departments were opposed to the decision which meant that during the year that when this was reversed the freeze would be lifted.

During what the students call the "ice-breaking" period, the students body and departments have been working to get things back to normal.

During 1982, all departments were asked to freeze all central activities until Dec. 31. The students body and departments were asked to freeze all central activities until Dec. 31.

The following are some of the reasons for the decision to reverse the freeze:

1. The students body and departments were asked to freeze all central activities until Dec. 31. The students body and departments were asked to freeze all central activities until Dec. 31.

2. The students body and departments were asked to freeze all central activities until Dec. 31. The students body and departments were asked to freeze all central activities until Dec. 31.

3. The students body and departments were asked to freeze all central activities until Dec. 31. The students body and departments were asked to freeze all central activities until Dec. 31.

The end of the line for c.o.r.?

by red apple

It has become increasingly evident to students that there is a gap between C.O.R. and the students. It is apparent to everyone. The reason that you will find the gap is that the students are not interested in C.O.R. It is becoming clear to everyone that the students are not interested in C.O.R.

Many students are not interested in C.O.R. It is becoming clear to everyone that the students are not interested in C.O.R.

The economics of university underenrolment and youth unemployment

by Jim Staines (interviewed in part before the Canadian university press conference)

Why are Canadian universities underenrolled? The answer to this is found in the increase of the national unemployment. Levels of enrolment have risen at the same time as the unemployment rate.

When Canadian universities set the next three months' intake of students, they are faced with a choice of whether to enrol more students or to enrol fewer. The answer is found in the unemployment rate.

The U.S. military's actions have been far from foolproof and could have been. The Pentagon's support for the Iraqi company that turned out to be a front for a network of weapons dealers used during Iraq's war in Kuwait is one example of how the U.S. military's actions have been far from foolproof.
